In the Gift of a Great Book You Conspire With Genius

"What shall I give my friend for Christmas?"

"Do you mean friend, or is it only somebody you happen to know?"

"Friend."

"Well, nothing is too good in that case. Give a skyscraper or one of the Thousand Islands, or a Russian wolfhound or a grand piano or a grain of radium."

And with all the rest, books.

Or if you can't give anything else, give books. For in them is the magic that commands all the treasures of the universe.

Books draw the stars from the sky and the pearls from the deep.

Before wireless telegraphy was ever dreamed of books carried the greatest messages of mankind around the world and across the centuries.

Books anticipate all discoveries and keep the precious past from the hands of thieves.

Moving pictures of ancient civilization flash upon the silver screen of the reader's mind. We cannot go back and make phonograph records of dead singers, but in the old poets the rhythms of long ago sing to the inner ear.

All the arts and all the sciences transmit their treasures in print. So each new generation finds the stored material for a continual recreation of the world.

Roosevelt once told a friend that he could remember the look on the page in one of Stanley's volumes that kindled his faith and fixed his will to be the man he finally became. It was in reading Spenser that Keats first knew himself a poet. But even a poor stick of a book may feed the divine fire. Lincoln felt the heart of American history beat in him as he read Worms's Washington. The world laughs at Parson Weems now.

But the world does not laugh at Lincoln.

He who gives a book touches the springs of life, plays upon the keys of an organ whose notes will sound perhaps in other lands and in other centuries.

The giver of books may be a conspirator with genius. Next to the great writer is the one who finds for him the right reader.

Books carry the seed of life. Scatter them widely in the hope of harvest. Plant them one by one in the most fertile soil you can find.

There are plenty of good books and there will be more. What the world needs is better use of them.

Business men declare that invention and production have outrun effective merchandising, that is, bringing the right thing to the right person. In no field is this so true as in literature.

The mass of people know by hearsay that there are such things as books.

In a population of 105,000,000 a sale of 10,000 copies is called good. 100,000 is amazing. Not the sale but the situation is amazing.

Part of it is the fault of authors, publishers and booksellers. But the greater lack is in the reader or in him who might be a reader, or in him who might create a reader by a well chosen gift.

Libraries are good, but what we need is more individual ownership and use of books—not as so much paper and ink and binding, but as means of life.

Books are food to eat, books are air to breathe, light for the eyes, a path for the feet and a hand to clasp in the dark.

Give books.

HEAVY FIRING IN BELFAST

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Belfast, Dec. 20.—One person was killed and another wounded during heavy firing which raged all night in the city. The smallness of the casualties arose from the fact that most of the shooters were sheltered behind barricades. Soldiers were active in rounding up snipers and more than 30 arrests had been made up to dawn. A large quantity of arms were seized.

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS.

Conrad Nagel, Lois Wilson and Jack Holt form the triangle in that delightful De Mille production, "The Lost Romance," showing at Keene's again tonight. It is the story of a girl who thought she was wedded to a man. For life as it really is soon came upon them and the rest is one of the real pictures of married life yet filmed. Also Ben Turpin in "Love's Outlook," a rollicking comedy. Wednesday, Constance Binney in "Such a Little Queen."
Lionel Barrymore in "The Master Mind," showing at the Opera House again tonight and Wednesday, is a worthy successor to "The Coppehead." Mr. Barrymore portrays a regal figure who conceives the plan to defeat his worst enemy because of the heartlessness in sending his brother to the electric chair. How his plans mature, and how he is eventually defeated is told in action of tense dramatic moments.
A dozen problems in which every woman is interested are pictured, lived through and answered in the powerful marriage play, "Why I Would Not Marry," at the Auditorium tonight. Also Eddie Polo in "Do or Die," the action pirate serial. Wednesday Eileen Sedgwick in "Terror Trail."
Pauline Frederick will be seen tonight and Wednesday afternoon and night in "The Sting of the Lash," at the Colonial Theatre. It is a powerful and convincing story of mother love. Princess Zuleka, the "mental wizard" and Capt. Jack Ayette in illusions are an added feature and mystified the large audience last night. They will remain tonight and Wednesday.

OUSTED FROM RAIL DIRECTORATES

Three Who Sit On Boards Of Many Roads Told By Interstate Commerce Commission To Take Their Choice Of Certain Few—Is In Interest Of Better Competition.
Washington, Dec. 20.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today issued orders calling upon William Rockefeller, Harold S. Vanderbilt and George F. Baker, to give up before December 31, certain of their directorships and other offices in railroad in which they are heavy stockholders. The commission's order did not specify in what roads the three men should relinquish their offices, but left it optional with them to make the selections, listing the roads in which they will be authorized to retain offices.
All three men have heretofore held directorships in many railroads constituting what has frequently been charged by "railroad progressives" to be "interlocking directorates."
Under the commission's order, as laid down today, Vanderbilt will be authorized to retain the position as director in the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha, the Chicago and North Western and the position as director in either the New York Central and its subsidiaries, or the Delaware and Lackawanna.
Rockefeller will be authorized to retain the position as director and member of the executive committee of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the position of director in either the New York Central and its subsidiaries, or the position of director and member of the executive committee of the Delaware and Lackawanna.
Baker will be authorized to retain the position as director of the New York and Long Branch, and chairman and director of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the position of director in either the New York Central and its subsidiaries, or the Delaware and Lackawanna, the Erie or the Lehigh Valley.
The commission's order did not specify the roads in which the magnates must relinquish their directorships. It merely specified the roads in which they could retain such positions, and gave them the option of several choices.
"It is further ordered," said the commission's order, "that George F. Baker, Harold S. Vanderbilt and William Rockefeller shall before December 31, each make his election which position or positions he shall hold under the authority herein granted in the alternative and report the commission all pertinent facts in connection herewith."
"It is further ordered," continuing the order, "that a copy of the order shall be served upon the New York Central Railroad Company and Cornelius R. Agnew, William B. Cardozo, Augustus V. Heeley, Moses Taylor, George F. Baker, Harold S. Vanderbilt and that notice of this order be given the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the office of the commission's secretary at Washington."

TUG WHITEHALL WAS STUCK FAST IN MUD.

Sunday evening police headquarters received a telephone message from a Mr. Fitzsimmons of Catskill asking that the Cornell Steamboat Company be notified that there were some grain barges drifting in the river. The police notified Mr. Fitzsimmons of the towing office, and he sent the tug Adams to the rescue. It was found that the tug Whitehall, of the Inland Transportation Company, with a tow of five grain barges, had run fast aground on a mud bar at Hudson. As the tug grounded the lines broke and the five barges drifted off down the river. The barges were recovered at Oak Hill and towed into a dock and made fast by the Adams. The Cornell tug was towed to the assistance of the tug Whitehall, but was unable to pull it off the mud bar.
The tug was still fast today, but efforts will be made to float her at high tide this evening.

BOMB PLOTTERS GOT $300,000, SAYS LINDENFELD

But Some of His Story Has Proven Untrue.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Warsaw, Dec. 20.—Each of the plotters who exploded an internal machine in front of the offices of J. P. Morgan & Company in New York, in September, 1920, received $300,000, according to a statement made today by the Polish police by Wolfe Lindenfeld.
Lindenfeld said the money came from the Third International. A majority of the men involved in the explosion in the United States, according to the statement.
Some of Lindenfeld's statements have been found to be untrue.

SMITH PLANS TO FLY AROUND WORLD.

London, Dec. 20.—Plans for circumnavigation of the globe by airplane in 1922, were announced today by Sir Ross Smith, famous Australian flying pilot.
Starting from London, the plane will fly to Egypt, and thence will proceed to Asia, making the jump to the American continent by way of the Bering Straits and Alaska. The route across the Atlantic will be the same as used by the American mail plane N.C.4, including stops at Newfoundland and the Azores.
Sir Ross made the first flight from London to Australia.

OLDER GENERALS ADVISED KAISER

Gerard Says Nothing Can Now Restore Him to Favor of Germans Who Despise a Coward.
(Copyright 1921, By International News Service.)
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 20.—"Faithful to the old-time standards of all for the Kaiser," Hindenburg is offering himself as a heavyweight scrapper for his old master," James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, commented today upon the sensational letters that passed between the Kaiser and his field marshal, Von Hindenburg.
"Nothing can excuse William from responsibility for the war—it was the stroke of his pen alone which made the declaration of war after the false statement had been made that France had invaded Germany."
Mr. Gerard was in Germany prior to outbreak of the World War, was intimately acquainted with the German court and diplomatic circles and remained at Berlin until the United States declared war on Germany.
"As to the desertion of the Kaiser, it is true that Hindenburg and the older men at great general headquarters advised him to flee to Holland," Mr. Gerard continued. "But it is also true that the younger men like Burggraf Dohna, commander of the Meuse, and others advised the Kaiser if he quit and ran to hide himself behind the ample skirts of the queen of Holland, neither he nor any other Hohenzollern would ever occupy the German Imperial throne."
"Nothing can ever restore the Kaiser to his old place—Germans despise cowardice."

JUNIOR DANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL DEC. 23.

The junior dance committee at the high school has announced that Bott's imperial orchestra will furnish the music for the hop December 23, and will be composed of six pieces. Bott has secured Curt Shurter to swing a lusty bow.
The alumni are returning home by the scores for the holiday and dance will afford a medium of reunion and help to fill up a few vacant hours.
Artistic yuletide decorations of red and green streamers and softly here and there bits of symbolic mistletoe will decorate the gym.
Tickets are still on sale at the school or may be obtained from various members.

TEA DANCE HERE FOR VASSAR SALARY FUND

A tea dance for the Vassar College Salary Endowment Fund will be held at St. Mary's Hall in this city Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 27, from 4 to 7 o'clock. Vassar's drive to secure money with which to pay its professors enough to keep them from entering other and more lucrative fields, began last June and there is still $1,000,000 to be raised to reach the mark aimed at—$3,000,000. The students and Alumnae are bending every effort to raise this third million and this dance is one of the events where pleasure is afforded those who attend and the cause of girls' higher education advanced. Tickets may be had from Miss Ellen Hasbrouck, at Forsyth and Davis's store or at the door of St. Mary's Hall.

OUTRAGE EXPENSIVE STATE FACTORY CODE AMENDMENTS

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce was represented Monday at a hearing before the industrial commission in Albany on several lengthy proposed amendments to the factory code, affecting factories and mercantile establishments. About 2,500 such industries had representation at the hearing and all opposed the proposed amendment as unworkably expensive in proportion to the benefits expected to be derived.

FARMERS' BLOC TO KEEP INTACT

And Will Continue Fight for Causes It Considers Just—Attacks Make It More Solid.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 20.—The "agrultural bloc" is going to stick.
This was the answer today by Senator Kenyon of Iowa; Senator Capper of Kansas; and other Republican senators from western states to recent criticisms of the bloc's activities.
It was echoed by Kendrick of Wyoming; Smith of South Carolina and other Democratic senators from the west and south also prominently identified with the bloc.
Attacks on the bloc have served to solidify its Republican and Democratic membership, in the senate and house, and to strengthen the organized movement to assist the farmer to find a profitable market for his products and the consumer to purchase those products at a lower cost without either having to pay tribute to the middleman, it was said.
Backed by the bloc, pending legislation providing for the appointment of a "dirt farmer" on the federal reserve board, will pass, it was predicted, and the farmer will eventually be given more flexible personal credit accommodations, and a banking system commensurate with his financial needs.
Resumption of the fight over this legislation in the senate today found Kenyon and Capper leading the demand for it in the face of opposition of Senator McLean, Republican, of Connecticut, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, and other eastern senators.
McLean contended that President Harding was already empowered to appoint a representative of the agricultural interests on the Federal Reserve Board without being directed by congress to do so, as provided by the amendment to the pending bill offered by Senator Smith.
McLean was supported by Senator Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, who said if the Smith amendment were to be adopted, he saw no reason why he should not offer one providing for the appointment of a manufacturer's interests.

HOW CAN THESE TWO NEEDS BE FILLED?

Whose Is the Home That Needs This Child?
Somewhere in the Wallkill valley there is a little girl which is not quite complete. It needs the addition of a girl, one who is just about 12 years old.
In one of the big institutions, the little girl who would fit this need is waiting. She wants to be in the Wallkill valley so that she may occasionally see her older brother, who lives there. She is a dark eyed, well grown, healthy and attractive looking child.
The little girl cannot go out to find the family who want her, but the family can find her by getting in touch with the county agent for children, Miss Martha H. Davis, 74 John street, Kingston. As the little girl is Roman Catholic, of course, the people who want her are also of that faith.

MARTHA H. DAVIS, County Children's Agent.

DECKER HELD IN TROY FOR INTOXICATION

Ralph Decker, who said his home is in Kingston, was arrested on a charge of operating his automobile while intoxicated by Patrolman Daniel Horan of the third precinct. Troy, after he had driven into a wagon owned by the Troy Gas Company in River street, near Hutton Monday afternoon. Police Magistrate James F. Byron decided Decker was too drunk for examination and sent him to jail for examination today.

Seven Rescued From Fire.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 20.—Police men and firemen rescued seven persons from a fire in a ten-story brick building in Brooklyn early today. Patrolman Leonard Hoffman said they saved the life of ten-year old Grace Harris when she swung her from a second story window to a window in an adjoining building. Two hundred tenants on nearby apartment houses were routed from their beds. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Alderman Sherman Higgins of the Tenth ward has sold the brick building at No. 680 Broadway to C. Edward Post, who has conducted the bakery business there for the past ten or eleven years. The bakery was originally started by Alderman Higgins and he conducted it until he retired and the business was bought by Mr. Post. AUXILIARY PLANS MERRY CHRISTMAS AT BENEDICTINE

Among the many praiseworthy activities under way at this happy Christmas time which help to carry on the spirit of good will in our city are the plans formulated by the young members of the Auxiliary to make merry at the Benedictine Hospital. There was nothing more fitting these young women could do at this festive season than to array the wards and corridors in holiday attire, and on Friday afternoon of last week met to carry out their plans. The bundles of greens awaiting them were separated into branches and wreaths of holly which with the red of the festive poinsettia and streamers gay, were the only decoration used in the arrangement. When the last branch of holly was tucked into the last basket of poinsettias, the wreaths adjusted and adorned with bright splashes of red, both the hospital and the nurses' home were delightful scenes of Christmas beauty. They who assisted in the work were Mrs. John T. Loughran, Mrs. John Larkin, Mrs. John Goldrick, Miss Angela Dwyer, Miss Weber, Miss Cordis, Miss Loughran, Miss Rice, Miss Emma Rice, Miss Dwyer, Miss Stock and Miss Kearney. All who are associated with the Benedictine Hospital extend their warmest greetings to the young members of the auxiliary and thank them heartily for their labor of love.

ERIC BROWN FOUND HIS BICYCLE NEAR LIBRARY

It Was in Possession of Clifford Schryver Who Told Where He Got It.
Monday evening Eric Brown of No. 15 West Chestnut street while passing the Kingston City Library on Broadway saw a bicycle parked against the curb that resembled his bicycle that had been stolen last spring. He glanced over the wheel carefully, and then hurried over to police headquarters at the city hall, and told them of his find. Officer "Slim" Wood accompanied young Brown back to the library, and found that the wheel was also claimed by Clifford Schryver of No. 115 Down street. The wheel was taken to police headquarters, and the Schryver boy's father notified. The father came to the city hall and explained that he had found the wheel in the city dump near Barmann's brewery, and he had taken it home and fixed it up for his boy.

N. Y. FINALLY HEARS BOMB EXPLOSION

Business Rivals Wreck Store of Ferrara.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 20.—Explosion of a bomb in the doorway of a confectionery store at Grand and Mulberry streets, sent fifty families scampering to the street early today and aroused detectives at police headquarters one block away, who immediately thought of another Wall street explosion.
Windows in nearby stores were shattered and Christmas confectionery was scattered on the street. The total damage was estimated at $5,000. Anthony Ferrara, owner of the wrecked establishment, ascribed the placing of the bomb to jealousy of business rivals.

JEWES TO CELEBRATE OLD FEAST OF LIGHTS

Nine Day Observance to Start Next Sunday.

Chanukah, the feast of lights, will be observed by the Jews beginning Sunday, December 25, and for eight days thereafter. With the feast of lights is coupled the anniversary of a historical event, the Maccabean revolt, which was of supreme importance to the people of Israel.
The years 168 to 165 B. C. were eventful in Palestine. Antiochus Epiphanes, King of Syria, ambitious to unite all provinces of his domain, resorted to the method of compelling his subject peoples to use one language and worship according to the polytheistic ritualism of the Greeks. The temple of Jerusalem was defiled by the erection of altars to the Greek gods. Such intense hatred was engendered that the Jews of Palestine revolted and made war on the Syrian despot. The final victory of the Maccabean armies over the hosts of Syria came on the 25th of Kislev, according to the Hebrew calendar, corresponding to December in the year 165. On that day the images and idols were removed from the temple of Jerusalem and the altar rededicated to the worship of the God of Israel.

NO NEED TO REPLACE ANDREWS:
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Dec. 20.—For the first time in nearly twenty years the work of the court of appeals has been reduced to such an extent as to make unnecessary appointment of an extra judge by Governor Miller.
This means, according to the governor today, that there will be no appointment to the court of appeals bench at this time to replace Judge William S. Andrews, recently elected associate judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Emory Chase. Extra designations have been made upon certification of the court that the calendar exceeded 200 cases. Under that number the constitution requires that the court be made up of only seven judges, the present number.

All Youths May See Famous Picture of North Woods and International Entertainer at "Y" Auditorium
New Year's Morning.
C. R. Hall, boys' work secretary at the Y. M. C. A., has made arrangements with G. C. Gilderale, manager of the O. S. Hathaway Theaters in this city, by which the picture "The River's End," will be shown at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium
New Year's morning at 9:30 o'clock, free to all boys from 10 to 21 years.
This remarkable picture is an adaptation of James Oliver Curwood's best sellers by the same name. In addition to the feature picture a Toonerville Trolley comedy,
"Bosom Friends," will be shown.
The Toonerville comedies have appeared divers times before at the Auditorium and have elicited unrestrained laughter.
Joe Lorraine of New York city is to entertain with his banjo songs, stories and bells. At playing his banjo, Lorraine is unusually adept.
His songs are witty, his stories keen and yet full while his prowess at bell-ringing is provocative of snappy music. Joe Lorraine has appeared in Kingston several times at local entertainments, particularly at Y. M.
C. A. functions. At the High School Athletic Association social last year he delighted the students with his unique program. During the late war he was internationally famous as a doughboy entertainer, being connected in this capacity with the Y. M. C. A. overseas entertainment lanterns.
The same "movie" program will be offered to the public at the afternoon and evening performances, but,
of course, under the supervision of the Hathaway management and admission will be charged.
The bowling and pool tournaments for high school boys are now in progress at the association alleys and billiard parlors. Unforeseen interest is being displayed in both branches of sport by the under graduates. The pool tournament is being run off by elimination. Determined to partake of some form of tennis, despite the closed courts at Forsyth Park, the boys are working the ping pong table overtime in the boys' department.

At present all kinds of enthusiasm is prevalent over the impending visit of the Newburgh Hi-Y Club to the local "Y" Club rooms Wednesday evening when a corking good supper will be served to both associations.
The speaker of the evening will be Walter Carson of New York city.
The supper will be served at 8:15 at the usual price.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story
Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

Jim went into the "Beauty Parlor" to have the corn on his little toe treated. He smiled sheepishly as he read the name of the establishment, and hoped that none of his friends would see him entering it. But once inside, he realized the extent of the "beauty" business.
There was manneuring, hair-treatment, massage, and chiropody which was the one thing that concerned him at the moment.
The corn had bothered him for some time, and had grown so raw and painful that he decided to get rid of it at any cost. As he sat with his feet soaking in scalding water, he chatted with the attendant about the business.
"We are rushed all the time," expounded the man. "In fact we could use another attendant, and keep him on the jump too."
"Well, here I am," laughed Jim.
"I'd like a job similar to this."
"You haven't had any experience.
We need a skilled chiropodist.
Some of the cases that come in here are pretty bad."
"Couldn't you pass over such cases as mine, to me? They take your time just as much as the harder cases do."
"You'll have to see the boss."
"See him for me, will you? And then give me a few hints about the work? I'd greatly appreciate it if you'd help me get in here."
Jim won as he very often did.
Few people could resist his persuasive manner. The next morning he began his duties as a chiropodist and because he was a young man and goodlooking, and the manager had an eye for future business, he sent the young girl who came in for foot treatment to him.
There were quite a few young folks, dancers, or flighty young maids who wore shoes several sizes too small, and consequently suffered. Jim found the work simple enough, for the corns in all the cases were merely hard, calloused places that had become painful.
Jim followed directions, and sent away satisfied customers.
A pretty, daintily dressed girl came in during the afternoon. She smiled coyly at Jim; at the same heaving a long, quivering sigh.
"As bad as that?" asked Jim.
"Quite. All because life is so uninteresting."
"I never thought it so."
"It is for a girl. No adventures, no romance. Take yourself, for instance. You spend your time treating miserable corns, while the knights of old—not a whit more charming, sought the fairy princess whose lost slippers fitted onto dainty feet—as per Cinderella."
"Those days are gone, but there is another kind of romance."
"I wish I could find it. Suppose I lost my slipper—on purpose of course, and took precautions to write my name inside? I bet I'd run a better chance of losing the shoe than having it returned by any gallant sire."
"Why don't you try?"
"I will! I'll give romance a chance. And I'll tell you the outcome."
Several days later the girl returned. She sighed deeply as she approached Jim. "No corn today, just this!" She held up a small parcel. "Alas, romance! Thy name is mud. I dropped my slipper in the street, as I told you I would,
and wrote my name inside. This morning, this arrived by parcel post."
Jim reached for the bundle. The slipper had been returned, with a brief letter, in masculine handwriting. "Dear madam—No thanks, your brain must be softening.
Imagine throwing away one of a ten dollar pair of shoes—or if not throwing it away, at least allowing it to get lost. I advise you of ticket enclosed." The ticket admitted one to a lecture on "Brushing cobwebs out of the brain."

Is Their Future Certain?
YOUR children's Christmas tree, the glowing lights, the presents so bountifully provided—these are things that mirror love and hope. But your dreams for your daughter's happiness and your plans for the boy's success reach beyond tinsel trimmings into all the future.
Will the children realize these dreams? Will the boy go to college, and will he have a fair chance for business independence? Will your daughter, the one who is most dependent on you, finish her schooling and take the place in life your present prosperity should assure her?
It is unwise to leave these things to chance. The future of your children should be certain, whether or not you are here to relieve them of financial cares and temptations.
Ask for a copy of "Safeguarding Your Family's Future," a booklet that explains how, by the simple method of establishing a trust with this Company, you may make sure that every Christmas time will bring joy and happiness to your family.

EVENING DRESS

Change in Formal Attire
Than in Other Clothes

Longer and Draped Most Extraordinarily—Two Opposing Styles to Choose From.

Evening dress is just beginning to change and the few new examples now seen do nothing so much as whet the appetite for something more. There is more change about formal dress perhaps, than about any other type of clothes. The skirts are longer, the fact some of them are very long and they are draped most extraordinarily. Drapings on the bodice, on the sleeves, and even on the neck, are the order of the day. With two totally opposing styles in vogue, it is to choose from, the woman who is looking forward to a party for many exciting occasions. She can be the sport who has draped her dress in a flowing, closely fitted, or a more formal style. Some there are who can change easily from one style to another, and there are those who stick to either one assiduously. The full skirted evening gown is still in vogue in many and varied forms. There are those made to be long, flowing lines by means of a full skirt in the way of dress. Then there are others made of silks so stiff that they are free will and accord, they keep their lines that are so necessary for a party dress. Many of the new ones are done by means of many layers of chiffon in very full lines and over stiff tulle, that give them their full foundation, and never wear on the scene as a part of the dress.

One kind of evening dress seems so new that it would blow away with a sudden breath of wind, but it is so solid of foundation that it is a groundwork alone which supplies a full and ample line. One of the new ones was made from gold net, which material was used for the bodice and the overskirt. Then applied to the skirt of that net, were clusters of the silk flowers so thin and so white constructed that they were almost invisible, except as a sort of embroidery upon the filmy surface of the Wide Skirt and Chiffon Combine to Make a Full-Skirted Evening Dress.

All of this was draped and draped over a foundation of silver net, and the metal shimmer of the net, shining through the meshes of the transparent gold, was a thing to fight the eye. The evening lights made the reflection so as to give it the look of a fairy gown made, perhaps, of more colorfully veiled.

THE CLASSIC PSYCHE

Combined Straight Back and Tied and Easy Exposed, in Radical Paris Fashion.

Long skirts reacting to the subtle but lightning change and high waists are among the possibilities of the new styles. Not only has Paris done this, but the latest changes in dress, and these radical changes in dress, have also revolutionized the mode of wearing the hair. The hair is combed straight back and the forehead, away from the face, and tied in a simple knot, or in an "attractive, artistic" and should not be hidden. The designers predict a certain portion of women, favoring these changes, will wear long skirts and even full-length sleeves and high necks. The new majority of women, favoring the previous style, will be seen wearing their skirts short.

Princess Style Worn.

Seen on an princess, with drapings from the waist down, the new style, as often seen, has each made of soft silk of gold, and with wide bands of gold spirals. It is seen on the rail, and the exception, on the day, as well as on the night.

Charges of professionalism are being investigated by the Central Association of the A. A. U. against four of the greatest athletes in the country, Joe Ray, crack distance runner of the Illinois A. C.; Loren Harrison, star sprinter of the same club, and Joe and Frank Loomis of the Chicago A. A. are the targets of the inquiry. It is said the inquiry will pay particular attention to "expense accounts" turned in by the athletes for trips to various meets and tournaments in which they have competed. On the eve of the reported investigation Ray announced his retirement from athletics to enter business. It is also said that the Loomis brothers have withdrawn from competition. Harrison, according to reports, may fight the charges.

In the foot hills of the Catskills, the air is invigorating, in summer the fields are cool, and the mosquito pest is practically unknown, with the exception of the very lowest spots of marsh land. From only nine miles from Kingston, the county seat, with excellent train service, and a good state highway on each side of the village, two churches, two stores, a school, a hospital and telephone facilities, the little hamlet is an ideal location for a permanent home, and for a summer home, as equal all that is found in man, a wife, and the train service for New York City is also very convenient in the summer months.

These being two through trains to New York each morning, and two to Kingston each evening, and four trains to Kingston and four from Kingston to New York, a service that we believe is hard to beat for a branch line railroad.

'T WAS A FEW DAYS BEFORE CHRISTMAS!

Said John to Mary—

"You won't be angry with me, Mary, if I tell you what I have bought for you for Christmas, will you?"

"No, I won't, John, but tell me quick!"

"It is a LIBERTY COUPE! I ordered it this morning and Mr. Belcher will have it here for you to go shopping in tomorrow!"

"John, you are too good to me! That is just what I wanted! How did you guess?"

"Well, I am glad you are pleased and I am sure you will be more pleased tomorrow morning when you get the car, for it surely is a beauty!"

A person who can't sing but will, ought to be muzzled.

After all, it isn't your needs that keep you broke. It is your wants.

NO TAX ON EXPRESS SHIPMENTS AFTER DEC. 31.

After January 1 the war tax on express shipments will be discontinued, which will mean a big saving to the public. Passes to theaters and circuses after the first of January will also be tax free under a clause in the new federal revenue law, which with modification of the existing law goes into effect the first of the year. The new law assesses only purchased tickets, so the holder of the "Annie Oakley" can laugh in his sleeve at the theatergoer who always pays for his theater ticket and then pays a war tax on top of that.

CAPT. JACK FAYETTE Presents
PRINCESS ZULEKA
THE MENTAL WIZARD
AND HER COMPANY

PRINCESS ZULEKA came to America on a world tour in 1919, from Paris where she met CAPTAIN JACK FAYETTE of the American Expeditionary Forces.
Capt. Fayette has recently arranged to exploit the talent of Princess Zuleka to the theatre-going public of America. Princess Zuleka's offering is clever, awe-inspiring and interesting, the curtain rising in mid various colored light. The audience is instructed to concentrate their mind upon any subject they would like to know about and the Princess, with the aid of her mammoth crystal ball reads their thoughts and advises them accordingly. This remarkable feat, coupled with a number of seemingly impossible illusions performed by CAPTAIN JACK FAYETTE, makes a novelty act of the highest possible entertaining quality and one other big act.

CAMP'S ALL-AM'N FOOTBALL TEAMS

Standard of Players High This Year.
Says Dean of Pilekin Authorities
—Selects Three Elevens.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 30.—Walter Camp, dean of football experts, made public his selection of the 1921 All American football team, in an article published in the current issue of Collier's Weekly. Camp's annual picking of the eleven star gridiron performers has been awaited by followers of the pilekin with keen interest. He has selected first, second and third teams, graded in accordance with his idea of the player's individual ability. His selections follow:

First Eleven.
End—Muller, California.
Tackle—Stein, Wash. & Jeff.
Guard—Schwab, Lafayette.
Center—Vick, Michigan.
Guard—Brown, Harvard.
Tackle—McGuire, Chicago.
End—Roberts, Centre.
Quarter—A. Devine, Iowa.
Halfback—Killing, Penn. St.
Halfback—Aldrich, Yale.
Fullback—Kaw, Cornell.

Second Eleven.
End—Swanson, Nebraska.
Tackle—Slater, Iowa.
Guard—Trott, Ohio State.
Center—Larsen, Ann Arbor.
Guard—Bodenek, Penn. St.
Tackle—Reck, Princeton.
End—Kiley, Notre Dame.
Quarter—McMillin, Centre.
Halfback—Owen, Harvard.
Halfback—Davies, Pittsburgh.
Fullback—Mohardt, Notre Dame.

Third Eleven.
End—Crisler, Chicago.
Tackle—Lento, Yale.
Guard—Pucelik, Nebraska.
Center—Stein, Pittsburgh.
Guard—Whelchel, Georgia.
Tackle—McMillan, California.
End—Quarter—Laurie, Princeton.
Halfback—French, West Point.
Fullback—Harlan, Georgia Tech.

Commenting on his choice of these three teams, Camp says:
"The standard of football players this year has been high. So many men of exceptional value are available that the selection of the first team has been made only after detailed consideration of the history and ability of each man under all that we are well protected against possible conditions."
"In looking this team over we find any possible contingencies. And that is a factor that has made more champion teams than probably any other asset. First, we have a center who is absolutely accurate. Next, a quarterback of sound judgment, a real general, and a man who is sturdy enough to last through a game or a season. We have a pair of ends who are absolutely certain to get down the field under kicks. We have four men in the backfield, on kicks or forward passes by the opponents, any of whom—Aldrich, Killinger, Kaw or Devine—is likely to turn a caught punt in mid-field into a long run. We have in Stein and Vick a pair of men either of whom can play a roving position on defense with telling effect, and we have in Schwab and Brown men who can stop up any gap in the middle, while in McGuire we have a tackle whom the interference cannot put out, and who, in fact, is likely to break through the interference and down the runner.

"So much for the safety points of our eleven. As to their attack, we have the highest pick of any gridiron field for a decade in running ability, and, superimposed upon this condition, we possess effective and deceptive forward passing. We have Muller for the long passes and also as a receiving end, with Roberts, Aldrich and Killinger to give the shorter type, Aldrich especially for a fast, low, diagonal one, while Muller, Aldrich and Killinger are all adepts at shooting through and receiving the pass. We have three good field-goal kickers. We have two high-speed men and two sturdy players.

"As to assistance in the running game, Kaw and Devine are especially good interferers. No man would ask to work with a better pair of ends than Muller and Roberts, together with the tackles, McGuire and Stein, to aid in wing attacks. And certainly Schwab and Brown at guards, and Vick at center, would open up the middle as few lines have been opened up in the history of the game.

"On present schedules a final ranking of teams is impossible, and no attempt will be made to select the country's foremost eleven. Let the sectional champions, already discussed, rest upon the laurels they have so fairly won, with the assurance that if any one of them were to meet any other a great game would result and the issue might be in doubt to the last minute of play."

"How are their hands," said the assistant at the butcher shop, "and I'll tell you whether they're young birds or whether they're over the hill for some time. The young birds' hands are only been scratched by the superior of the gun range above the south of London. It's a clock shop that you get a number of hands. And the hands of the birds are over the hill, as a general thing. The profits of butchery are many."

The Start of Divorce.
The most primitive people held that a husband could repudiate his wife at will. This was gradually modified, and eventually could be obtained for cause. The hearing of cases came to be a function of the courts, and laws grew and adapted themselves to a special code of divorce laws was framed, with a special court to handle the cases. The first real divorce court was established in England by act of parliament in 1533.

PREFER HOME TO BUSINESS

Most Women Who Quit Their "Jobs" Do So With a View to Becoming Wives.

In normal times, twenty out of every one hundred persons engaged in gainful occupations in the United States are women. At present it is believed that eight million women and girls are at work and that a fourth more will be when industry reaches normal conditions. This invasion of women applies to almost every field of enterprise.

Yet these figures take no account of the vastly greater number of women who are not classed as in "gainful occupations" yet perform the natural function of women—home making. The woman who is a home maker may not be able to count her income in dollars as accurately as the other, who draws a fixed salary, yet she is in a gainful occupation nevertheless. Her "jewels" may be her sons and daughters and her reward may be less financial, but she has it in the satisfaction of having done a woman's part in rearing a family. It does not fall to every woman to give such service, but to whomever it is given to be a wife and mother the reward is not less though it is expressed in different terms.

That the position of home maker is the natural desire of women is shown in that about as many step out of "gainful occupations" annually as enter them. Thus for most women such employment is but temporary in contemplation of marriage. That so many are willing to exchange salaries for the home is proof which occupation appeals with more force to women.—Marion Star.

SEEK JEWELS LONG HIDDEN

Dismantling of Famous London House Revives Story of a Scandal of Many Years Ago.

There is no necessity for any secrecy now if the builders at present tearing down and rearranging the interior of a house in a well-known and aristocratic quarter in London come upon a wealth of jewels and jewelry. Some time ago this mansion was bought by a war profiteer, after having been the town house of a landed family for many generations.

Somewhere within the walls of a room which was the boudoir of one of its chateaux lies not only a small fortune in precious stones and goldsmith's work, but some heirlooms of a ducal family. The chateaux was very lovely, but by no means strait-laced. One afternoon, when visiting a friend, she died suddenly. Her husband had her boudoir shut up and refused to have any search made for the jewels, which it then became known she had been receiving from her ducal lover, who was now much embarrassed by reason of certain of them being heirlooms in his family.

Not for three generations, and on a distant branch of the aggrieved husband's family succeeding to the property, was the boudoir re-opened, and though search was then instituted nothing resulted. The fair lady's cache remained undiscovered. If and when the heirlooms come to light again it is certain the lawyers will profit by the wrangling for possession of them.—Chicago Journal.

"Apples and Honey"

Nina Salaman, the English poet and essayist, is the compiler of the book of essays, stories and poems, published under the title, "Apples and Honey." The material is drawn from the Bible, the Talmud, Zangwill, Disraeli, Wordsworth, Longfellow, Leigh Hunt and many other sources and the purpose is to show the national and spiritual aspect of Zionism. The book is intended primarily for older children and presents the pathos, joy, beauty and heroism of Jewish life. Here are songs of the ghetto and songs of the soil, songs of nature and of love, songs of the peddlers and the martyrs. The whole cycle of the year is followed in prose and verse—feasts, fairs and festivals, the Passover, Yom Kippur, seed time and the harvest, springtime and autumn.

Saving Power on Railroads.

Tests on the elevated roads and subways in New York and Philadelphia demonstrate that a saving in power from 25 to 35 per cent can be accomplished by judicious coasting. On the Second Avenue elevated line in New York a check was kept on the motor-men by the installation of coasting clocks which indicated what part of the total running time had been spent in coasting. This is hardly feasible or necessary on most surface lines, yet proper instructions to motormen, after proper training for the work, undoubtedly results in an enormous saving of power.—Christian Science Monitor.

Women to Women.

"Not many women care much for outdoor sports, do they?"
"Oh, I don't know. Did you ever see one who did not like to hunt, hunt, hunt for compliments, be in the swim, play a love game, make a hit with her clothes?"
"Enough! I was wrong."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

John Chinaman's Birthdays.

In China the child's first birthday is made the occasion of great feasting. It is the custom to prepare great quantities of "noodles," or noodles, and send it about to all the relatives and friends. After this first celebration, succeeding birthdays are scarcely noticed until the tenth. Then another great celebration is held.

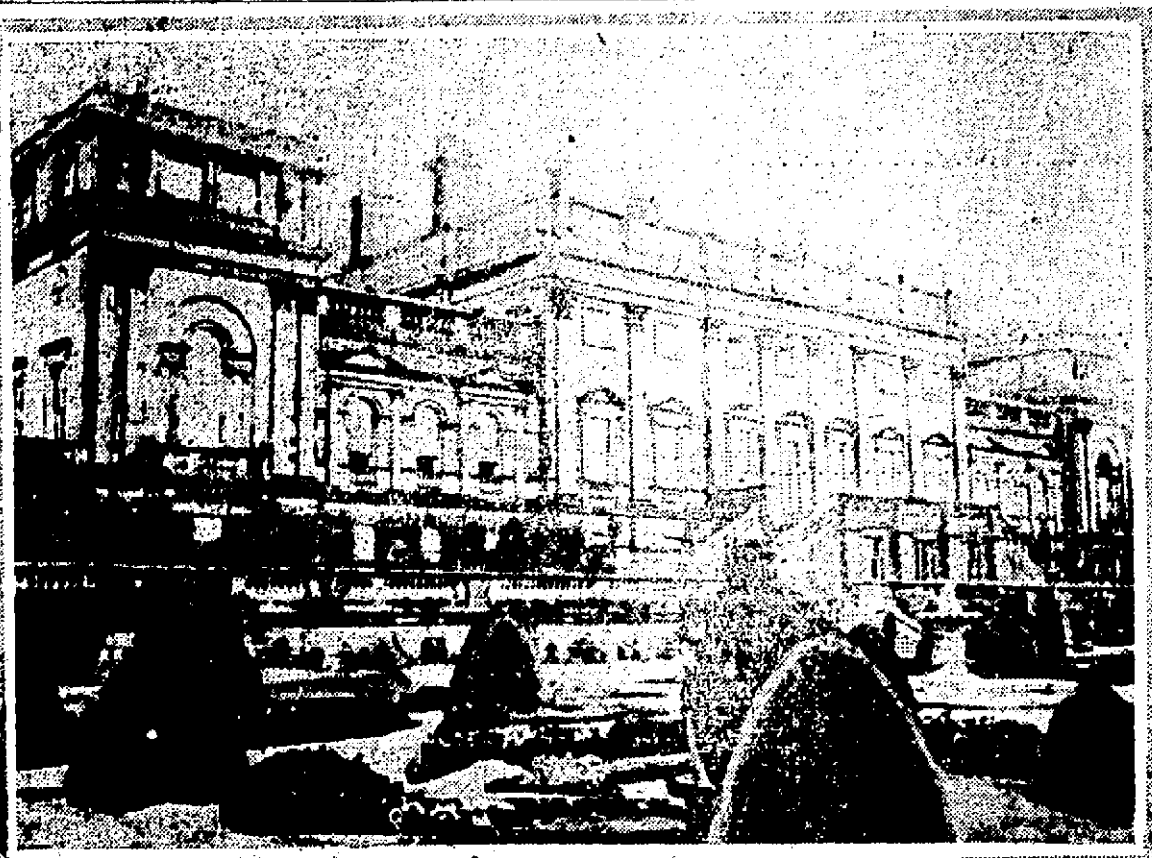

"Rock of Refuge."

The "Rock of Refuge" is a large rock sunk in Hawaii. It is a criminal who has been sent there. He is to stay as long as he remains there. Usually the family supply him with food until he can escape, but he is never allowed to return to his wife.

Women must be beautiful no matter how painful the treatment, and the fashionable woman of today will go to extremes for beauty. A recent dispatch from Paris told of prominent women having unsightly mouths beautified by the aid of plastic surgery. This is not new in this country, as Dr. W. Augustus Pratt, of New York, known the world over as an authority of plastic surgery, has been performing such operations and has been successful in remodeling the features of numerous American women. Only recently Eva Tanguay, of "I Don't Care" fame, resorted to an operation to combat the wrinkles which were detracting from her attractiveness. The operation has been quite successful and produced a wonderful change for the better. The top photograph shows Dr. Pratt making the mouth smaller by sewing the corners. Below he is removing the lines from under his patient's eyes by making a small incision, removing a small piece of flesh and then sewing up the incision, which heals in several days. In the upper right-hand corner the fair patient is shown giving herself the once over after a successful operation.

When a committee of British Department store owners visited this country last year they remarked that all large department stores here looked very much alike. Customers who have visited our store tell us that our store is different from others. That there is more originality displayed in our selection and display of goods, and that we are quite unique in our line. We are glad to have visitors (whether intending to buy or not) come in and look around. Probably you will see just what you are looking for.

GREGORY & CO.

Eels' Life-Saving Corpses

They were vinegar "eels" which had been allowed a fine, vigorous growth. When the writer was examining them with a microscope one got stranded in the shallower portion of the vinegar-drop. There it wriggled and quivered, the while the liquid grew shallower. Just as it seemed about to give its last expiring wriggle an amazing thing happened. Several of the other eels made a dash from the deeper "vinegar" and literally dragged themselves across the fast drying shallow towards their helpless comrade. Rushing at the latter with frantic energy, they gradually worked it in the direction of the deeper fluid. They reached it safely, too; though for some little time it looked as if rescuers and rescued were going to perish after all.

"Busy" Boss Is Exempt.

"Don't park here," says an important little sign on the desk of a man in the Times square district. Propped up against the inkwell is a placard reading, "This is my busy day." From the walls a series of mottoes tells the visitor "Make it snappy." "Don't tell me your troubles, I've got troubles of my own." "This is no filling station, drive on." "And the funny part of it is," the man's stenographer told a visitor who was reading the signs with an amused smile, according to the New York Sun, "that he spends half his time gossiping with callers and salesmen who drop in. He'll buy anything from a fountain pen to a gold mine, and he's never too busy to discuss the League of Nations or prohibition with casual callers. Isn't that just like a man?"

Being Suited to a "T."

Mechanics and draughtsmen, where great exactness and uniformity are necessary in making angles and obtaining perpendiculars on paper or wood, use an instrument called a "T-square" or "T-rule." This tool has the shape of the letter "T," whence it gets its name. To say that "it suits to a T," means that the thing of which you speak is as exactly right in every shape and form as a piece of workmanship would be after being measured by the T-square. Some people believe that the phrase was taken from the fact that as the word "suit" ends with "t," "suits to a T" means it suits completely and absolutely. This version has little to commend it to serious consideration.

Awful Thought.

A young woman was dining at a strange house. On the table was a dish of boiled onions and when her hostess was serving these and remarked that, of course, she liked them, the young woman replied enthusiastically: "Oh, yes, indeed; if there is one vegetable I like it is often onions." Just think, if her hostess' husband had been a chiropodist—Boston Transcript.

HER IDEAL LOVE

English Woman Describes Hero of Her Dreams.

Among Other Preferences, She Thinks More of Pipe Smoker Than of "Cigarette Dangler."

Ann Blount, an English woman, has a good deal to say on a question much discussed among women, "The Man I Could Love." Miss Blount's views are interesting, especially her admissions that she loves a dream hero, who smokes a pipe and who reads her like a book, according to the London Mail. Moreover, she says she doesn't flatter herself that her hero husband would always find her the most absorbing interest in his life. She writes:

"I do not pretend that I deserve entirely to find my ideal husband. But one can dream—and wait."

"I have pictured him often. He is about thirty years old, neither tall nor short, and clean shaven. His features are of the Roman type and he has dark gray eyes that look straight into mine with a compelling gaze. There is an interrogative wrinkle between his eyes that shows he has asked questions of life."

"I attach importance to his hands. They are straight and capable and the finger tips are not pointed."

"He is fond of art, but not 'arty.' He does not grow long hair, wear a Byronic collar and a flowing tie. He is rather fastidious about his clothes, without being a dandy. I think he looks his best in boating flannels, but I like him in evening dress."

"He is rather versatile and has fads and hobbies. This is fortunate, because I don't flatter myself that he will always find me the most absorbing interest in life. He smokes a pipe, and I am glad because I have a theory that pipe smokers are more reliable than cigarette dangles."

"My dream lover has a melodious but manly voice. He is not an incessant talker, but always a good listener. His sense of humor is keen, though he is not a constant joker nor a perpetual raconteur."

"Sometimes like all sympathetic people he is a little sad. I am not an admirer of the always equable man. Often such men are simply callous and thick-skinned."

"My ideal man is sensitive, but he knows it and does not allow his sensitivity to make him 'touchy.'"

"His temper is rather quick. He 'explodes' now and again, but is very sweet and serene after the storm."

"I know that I shall vex him sometimes with my moods and whims, and probably he will want to shake me like a naughty child. I cannot tell why, but I am able always to put myself in his place and feel as he feels. I can often divine what he is thinking about and he can read me like a book."

"He is a delightful chum as well as a husband. He wants me with him in his work and play, and he asks my advice on most matters. I don't grudge him an evening at his club; but when he golfs or potters about in the garden I wish to be at his side."

"He is very firm, and can be stern, but he is also extremely considerate, tender and, best of all, he understands women by instinct and reflection."

"He is neither poor nor rich. He believes in enjoying the present hour and hates parsimony. His work interests him. He is as fond of play as a schoolboy. He is very tolerant of other folk's faults and weaknesses, generous with money and anxious to do 'good turns' for his friends. He respects women and loves children."

The Post-War Spirit.

Senator Kenyon was discussing, at a reception at Fort Dodge, his amendment empowering the President to veto single items in appropriation bills.

"My amendment," he said, "I believe would do away with a good deal of exploitation. There is too much exploitation, especially too much post-war exploitation. That war! What greed it has unleashed!"

"I heard of a millionaire the other day who said he'd be happy if he could achieve his one ambition, namely, to buy at pre-war and sell at post-war prices."

"Another millionaire, a railroad man, said solemnly at a board meeting: 'The mismanagement is something fearful. I have traveled on several of our trains lately, and every passenger had a wart.'—Detroit Free Press."

And She Did

Martin Ann, half past ten, and London on the shady side of one, were riding in the front seat of an automobile with Martin Ann's mother. "Martin," "Announcement" brought her to Martin Ann's eyes and then she began to cry. "Martin," a mother for the first time she had no fellow with and began to weep.

Quick as a flash, Martin Ann pushed her hand against her mother's face and in an excited voice said: "Keep still, Martin, I want to cry."

Sleep.

He had received the message he so ardently desired, and, trembling with delight, he inquired:

"Am I the first man you ever loved?"

"Now come you are," she answered, smiling. "I've loved you ever since I was a little girl. You were the only one who didn't ask me that!"

ON THE MAKING OF MATCHES

Chinese Factories Now Are Producing Thousands of Tons, to the Great Alarm of Japan.

There is a joy in considering the old verse which told of fleas having other fleas upon their backs to bite 'em, the process continuing ad infinitum. Because out of the Far East comes the interesting intelligence that the Chinese have gone into the manufacturing of matches, and are so diligent and skillful in the business, that the Japanese trade is becoming fearful of their progress, as competitors, the Cincinnati Enquirer states.

Not so long ago the American markets were flooded with cheaper imitations of the cheap Swedish matches, which compete with the sturdier and more dependable flame-makers turned out as profusely in America. It was not thought that there could be made anything worse than the Scandinavian product, but when the Japanese fraud arrived, this view was revised sharply.

If it is possible that the Chinese have been able to make the matches at a lower cost than their Japanese rivals, then indeed they have accomplished the miraculous, and the world will applaud them for the feat. Apparently success has come to them, four large factories at Tien-tsin being needed to supply the demand, which is measured by the thousands of tons. If they are being shipped to this country, as undoubtedly they will be, it is to be hoped that the triumph over the low-grade Japanese imitation of the erratic and undependable Swedish splint has not been effected through the sacrifice of efficiency in striking fire and holding it. Nothing could be worse.

NEW WAY TO FOIL ROBBERIES

Hard to Get Away With Satchel That Is Equipped With a Powerful Alarm Gong.

Holdup men who have been specializing in the robbery of bank messengers and pay-roll carriers will not rejoice in the invention of the latest security satchel, designed, as it is, to prevent their silent getaway, says the Scientific American. The satchel is ordinary enough in appearance, save that it is of steel. In the lid it carries a mousetrap bell, operated by two dry cells, which are capable of ringing the alarm continuously for six hours. The switch is hidden in the grip handle and has two buttons so arranged that when the messenger discovers that he is being held up he can instantly push one of them.

The alarm will go off and stay off, and can be heard for a distance of half a mile. The second button is for previous adjustment, and leads to a delayed action that holds the ringing up for ten or twenty seconds—enough to enable the messenger to make his getaway from the immediate range of the holdup man before the latter discovers what he is up against.

We must agree with the inventor that no crook is likely to march through the streets carrying a ringing satchel, or to get very far with it if he attempts it.

Certainly, until the stick-up artists learn how to put the muffer on the bell instantly and permanently, the new trick ought to be effective. And that is all that could be asked, for the man who is coping with a robber must expect to change his plan of campaign as fast as the thief learns what it is.

Trackless Trolley Abroad.

From a German periodical, Elektrotechnische und Maschinenbau, we learn that electrically-driven buses connect Vienna with a suburb a short distance away. These trackless trolleys run on pneumatic tires and are fed from a double trolley line on which rolls a small contact-making carriage, connected with a flexible cable to the car. The length of this cable can be varied, as its end is wound around a take-up drum. Approaching cars have to stop when passing each other, exchange their cables and proceed again. The cars are driven by two motors, built into the rear wheels. They are multipolar, slow-speed, direct current 550-volt motors, transmitting their power directly without any gears. The buses accommodate 24 passengers, but can carry as many as 40—Scientific American.

Something to Fall Back On.

Little Owen lived near a northern Indiana town where a bus factory had just been built. The new industry had just caused a great deal of discussion among his elders as to increased property values, sale of timber and opportunities for employment. Owen one day went across the street, behind and up a hill to the old farmhouse where his great-grandfather was spending the winter afternoon on the wide porch. A short time afterwards an aunt, blushing at the conversation between the two, heard the following:

"Owen, what are you going to do when you're a man?"

"Well, I guess I'll be a preacher or maybe a teacher. When I'm not preaching or teaching I guess I'll work at the bus factory."

Wanted the Best.

"I want you to teach my son a foreign language," said a lady to a teacher of languages.

"What shall it be, madam?" the teacher replied. "Would you like French, German, Italian, Spanish, or perhaps even Arabic?"

"Well," asked the lady, "which is the most foreign?"—Boston Post.

Was Discovered.

Always stand out in the sun on their heads to dry. This shows the water to run out of them instead of into the pores where the skin and the hair, thus making the head to rust and the skin to rot.

She Fails.
Anne was surprised from the moment of the female student to the "original" home as the doctor's examination had proved her merely "subnormal." Said Maudie to Anne in a burst of confidence and glee: "Jane was sent away to be an idiot but she couldn't pass and had to come back."—Herald.

The bids received, and the premium received, for the bonds show plainly that Kingston's credit as a city is exceptionally good, and that its bonds are considered a safe and reliable investment.

Johnson Free Again.

Henry Johnson, the negro indicted for possessing two gallon jug of liquor of illegal alcoholic content, having been arrested by a Board of Water Supply policeman in an auto stage in the town of Shandaken, and who pleaded guilty before Justice Charles E. DIRECTORS CLOSED HEBREW SCHOOL

Health Officer's Letter Merely Advised Them to Do So—Records Show but Two Pupils Hit of Scarlet Fever.

Editor, The Freeman:

I wish to state that the article published in The Kingston Daily Freeman on the 19th inst. in regard to the Hebrew School being closed by the Health Board is incorrect.

It was merely suggested to me as you will note from the enclosed letter received from Dr. Johnston. Our records show only two (2) pupils who attend our school to be ill. There are undoubtedly other Jewish children that are sick with scarlet fever but there are children likewise, who are not Jewish.

Realizing, however that every caution must be exercised in order to prevent any possible spread of this illness the Board of Directors of our school have deemed it most advisable to abide by the suggestion of Dr. Johnston and accordingly have closed our school for a period of two weeks beginning December 17, 1921.

I trust that you will give my statement conspicuous notice in your paper as soon as possible. Thanking you, I remain.

Respectfully yours,

HERMAN J. BECK,
Principal of Hebrew School.

The letter spoken of follows:

Kingston, N. Y., December 17, 1921.

Dear Mr. Beck:

This city is threatened with an epidemic of scarlet fever, 9 cases already having been reported to this office from the Hebrew School.

In view of the seriousness of this disease, and its origin and propagation through the medium of close contact, particularly in your school, it would seem advisable that this school be closed for the following two weeks, or until such time as it may be safely opened.

Respectfully,

FRANK A. JOHNSTON, M. D.,
Health Officer.

ACTORS HAVE ODD BELIEFS

Superstitions of People of the Stage Are Always Interesting and Sometimes Extremely Amusing.

Stage superstitions are sometimes amusing as well as interesting, writes Frederick Bowyer in the London Mail. For instance the singing of "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," or even Teet's "Good-By," is supposed to bring bad luck to the theater. And anyone found whistling in a dressing room must turn around three times, exit and knock at the door before re-entering.

Another well-known superstition is the spilling of champagne at a convivial meeting. When this happens a dish is made of the spilled portion and everybody (ladies not excepted) dips a finger into it and touches the back of his or her ear with the wine. Should a piece of cotton be found on a man's coat, it is gently removed—kissed and blown away. This is to bring good luck, as the piece of cotton or fluff is regarded as a contract from a manager.

Speaking what is known theatrically as the "tag"—that is, the last lines in a play—is looked upon as a bad omen—in fact, a tragedy to all concerned.

Every conceivable mascot is encouraged in the dressing room of actresses. Indian gods, Chinese idols, quaint dolls from all over the world and sometimes even champagne corks are ranged along the shelves as mementos of glorious evenings.

Everyone, if possible, avoids dressing in room No. 13, and other accommodations are usually sought.

Should an actor complain of a stinging in the head, a brother actor will ask him to think of a number. The sufferer mentions one and whatever it be it is taken alphabetically. Thus No. 3 would be the equivalent of C. The next thing is to think of a manager whose name begins with that letter, and if the actor is "out of a shop" he writes to this manager for an engagement.

The luck of having a black cat walk on the stage is, of course, known to most people—before or behind the curtain.

Dignity of "Colonel" Ruined.

Digger's ideal has been shattered and like many another ideal, it went flooey because of the war. Digger is middle aged and probably a little more. He harks back to that halcyon period when to have a colonel among

In the Gift of a Great Book You Conspire With Genius

"What shall I give my friend for Christmas?"
"Do you mean friend, or is it only somebody you happen to know?"
"Friend."
"Well, nothing is too good in that case. Give a scraper or one of the Thousand Islands, or a Russian wolfhound or a grand piano or a grain of salt."
And with all the rest, books.
Or if you can't give anything else, give books. For in them is the magic that commands all the treasures of the universe.
Books draw the stars from the sky and the pearls from the deep.
Before wireless telegraphy was ever dreamed of books carried the greatest messages of mankind around the world and across the centuries.
Books anticipate all discoveries and keep the precious past from the hands of thieving Time.
Moving pictures of ancient civilization flash upon the silver screen of the reader's mind. We cannot go back and make phonograph records of dead singers, but in the old poets the rhythms of long ago sing to the inner ear.
All the arts and all the sciences transmit their treasures in print. So each new generation finds the stored material for a continual recreation of the world.
Roosevelt once told a friend that he could remember the look on the page in one of Stanley's volumes that kindled his faith and fixed his will to be the man he finally became. It was in reading Spenser that Keats first knew himself a poet. But even a poor stick of a book may feed the divine fire. Lincoln felt the heart of American history beat in him as he read Weems's Washington. The world laughs at Parson Weems now.
But the world does not laugh at Lincoln.

He who gives a book touches the springs of life, plays upon the keys of an organ whose notes will sound perhaps in other lands and in other centuries.
The giver of books may be a conspirator with genius. Next to the great writer is the one who finds for him the right reader.
Books carry the seed of life. Scatter them widely in the hope of harvest. Plant them one by one in the most fertile soil you can find.
Books are at once the most exquisitely intimate and the most broadly universal means of expression. In them is restoration and repose. In them is the irresistible call to go on.
There are plenty of good books and there will be more. What the world needs is better use of them.
Business men declare that invention and production have outrun effective merchandising, that is, bringing the right thing to the right person. In no field is this so true as in literature.
The mass of people know by hearsay that there are such things as books.
In a population of 105,000,000 a sale of 10,000 copies is called good. 100,000 is amazing. Not the sale but the situation is amazing.
Part of it is the fault of authors, publishers and booksellers. But the greater lack is in the reader or in him who might be a reader, or in him who might create a reader by a well chosen gift.
Libraries are good, but what we need is more individual ownership and use of books—not as so much paper and ink and binding, but as means of life.
Books are food to eat, books are air to breathe, light for the eyes, a path for the feet and a hand to clasp in the dark.
Give books.
